D'AccorD

Norwegian progband

The Norwegian prog rock band D'Accord perform their music with great passion, intensity and skill. A D'Accord concert is quite simply a vivid and awesome experience. Their style is obviously influenced by music from the seventies. The quintet is fronted by singer and multi instrumentalist Daniel Måge who also writes their songs. Both their records and live performances get great reviews and are loved by their audience.

Live shows

At home in Norway their shows have been booked for respected clubs and festivals. And this spring they played a few support gigs for Kvelertak who also tours with the likes of Mastodon and Slayer. They have also played support for acts like Enslaved, Focus and Wishbone Ash. This summer, they played the spot after Uriah Heep's show at Skånevik Bluesfestival, Norway. A little bit starstruck and nervous, the boys entered the stage and gave the audience a rock solid show to conclude the evening.
